GOV'T POLICY ON TARIFFS IS NOT REVEALED

Premier MacDonald Tells House at Opening Conclusions Are Incomplete

TO FOLLOW LINES OF ELECTION MANIFESTO

LONDON, Nov. 10 (CP).—Parliament opened quietly today. After the glittering pageantry of the state opening in the House of Lords, the Commons had rather an air of the commonplace. The snap of the closing weeks of the last Parliament was missing.

Members, new and old, packed the benches to the doors. The Conservative forces overflowed into the normally Opposition benches to the left of the Speaker's dais and behind the Laborites. Clydesiders sat side by side with the strongest opponents of Socialism. The Labor party, with nearly all its front-benchers lost in the storm, early showed its lack of first-rate debaters.

WILL FOLLOW MANIFESTO

The work of the present Government would follow precisely the lines of the election manifesto, the Prime Minister said. He was confident that at the end of the financial year the Chancellor of the Exchequer would be able to report a balanced budget. In the industrial field depreciation of the pound had helped exports, but these conditions might well be temporary. If necessary to prevent price profiteering, the Government would not hesitate to ask Parliament for wider powers. The increased price of wheat, for instance, ought to be a sign of encouragement, but the Government did not propose that bread should increase in price one farthing above the economic level necessary to revive world trade in the primary products.

NO TARIFF ANNOUNCEMENT

The House was particularly keen to hear any declaration of the Prime Minister might make on the tariff policy of the Government. But he limited himself to the statement the Government intended to consider all means of restoring a favorable trade balance. The tariff was not committed to the taxation of foodstuffs, Mr. MacDonald said.

AUSTRALIA MAKING DEBT LOOK SMALLER

CANBERRA, Nov. 10 (CP).—Revenue receipts of the Australian Commonwealth from October amounted to $27,800,000, compared with expenditures of $23,400,000, the Government announced today. The National Debt Commission reported $15,715,000 of Commonwealth debts and $16,205,000 in Australian state debts during the past year.

Eastern Canada Has Decided Revival in Business Conditions

Large Factories Opening and Active Plans Made for Resumption of More Normal Trade, Hon. J. W. Jones Reports After Dominion Tour

"BUSINESS conditions have actually turned the corner and are definitely on the upgrade. That, at least, is what leading business men and financiers in the East are saying, and it is borne out by a very noticeable reopening of plants and re-engagement of staffs," Hon. J. W. Jones, Minister of Finance, said yesterday, on returning from Ottawa, where he met leading Canadian financiers, including Sir John Aird, Sir Thomas White and Sir Joseph Flavelle.

PRESIDENT WILL BE WELL FOUND

Head of Spanish Republic to Be Provided With Palace and $90,000 Income

MADRID, Nov. 10 (AP).—The President of the Spanish Republic would be paid 1,000,000 pesetas a year, a little less than $90,000, under a tentative salary schedule fixed today by the Cabinet.

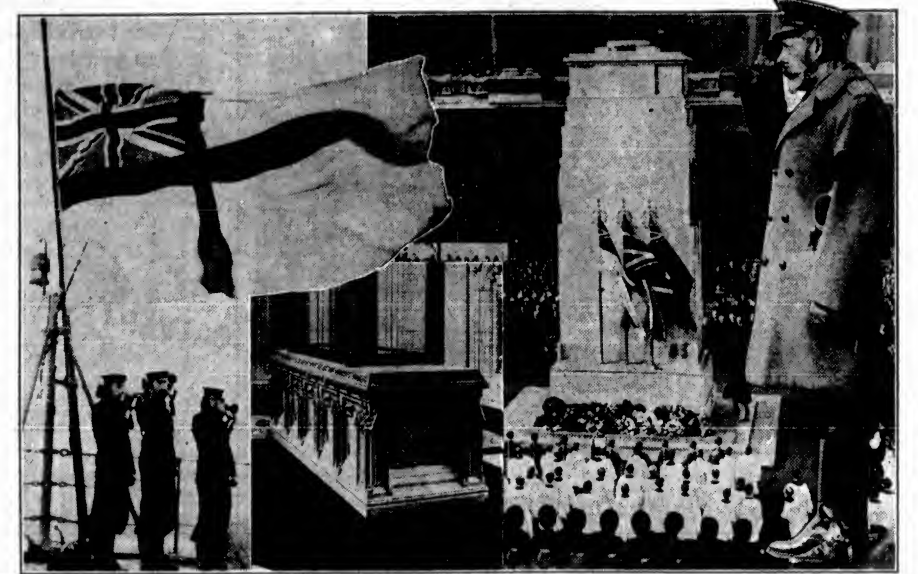

Francisco Largo Caballero, Minister of Labor, said the Presidential budget had been tentatively fixed at about 2,000,000 pesetas, of which 1,000,000 would go for office and personnel expenses.

He said the Cabinet planned to buy La Huerta Palace from the Marquis of Arguelles as a Presidential Palace for about 6,500,000 pesetas.

JAPANESE BUSINESS LEADER PASSES AWAY

TOKIO, Nov. 11 (AP).—Viscount Ichiji Shibusawa, Japan's "grand old man" of business, died today. He was ninety-one years old, but still a few years ago still was one of the country's most active business men. The people called him "the people's foreign minister" because he made so many trips to the United States, especially when the Japanese immigration question was under discussion.

REMEMBRANCE Day, and in the four corners of the earth silence will reign in honor of those who fought the last great fight on the battlefields of Flanders, or Gallipoli, or Turkey, or Palestine, during those terrible years, 1914 to 1918. Before the Cenotaph in London, King George and millions of humble Britishers will gather to revere those who died for freedom, while at the Altar of Remembrance in the Memorial Chapel at Ottawa the nation's greatest will gather to commemorate those Canadians who went to the aid of the Motherland. SPEECH FROM THRONE OUTLINES PROGRAMME

BY NEALEY PARSON

LONDON, Nov. 10 (CPN).—King George today opened his seventh Parliament. The red chamber of the House of Lords was as quiet as a cloistered cathedral at 10:30 o'clock. Knights in chain mail, saints and suppliants stared down from its mullioned and towering windows. Six rows of blackless, scarlet-leather benches were ranged in mounting ranks along each carved oak wall.

At the far end reposed the two golden, jeweled thrones under the golden spired canopy like a Gothic triptych. And beside these thrones stood a little chair—almost a stool—with its sole decoration the three feathers of the Prince of Wales.

NATION WILL HONOR DEAD

National Ceremony to Be Held in Shadow of Peace Tower

OTTAWA, Nov. 11 (CP).—The national pause today in its round of activities to pay homage to memory of Canada's 80,000 dead in the Great War. Thirteen years ago the conflict which had harrowed the whole civilized world during four years of suffering and sacrifice came to an end.

The era of bitter strife, of the killing of humankind on a scale that had never previously been imagined, was replaced by one wherein men directed their thoughts towards the security and maintenance of peace. And in the national observances of Remembrance Day on Parliament Hill peace and the sacrifice made on its behalf will be linked together.

The day will usher in a holiday, ordered as such by Act of Parliament.

Japan Will Make No Concessions

By JAMES F. HOWE

TOKYO, Nov. 11 (AP).—Japan will make no concessions to the League of Nations in its Manchurian dispute with China, it was reiterated today.

Its ambassadors abroad are being informed to that effect in view of the approaching date of the League Council's next meeting.

Japan is standing on its five fundamental principles, regardless of the consequences, the ambassadors are being informed.

GERMAN ANNIVERSARY MARKED BY BLOODSHED
BERLIN, Nov. 10.—Clashes between political opponents in which two were killed marked the close of the thirteenth anniversary celebration of the German republic.

National Socialists and members of the Republican Reichsbanner fought in Bremen, with one man killed, eight severely wounded and sixty arrested as a result.

The other fatality occurred in Ruit, near Hamburg, when the National Socialists attacked Republicans who were parading in the Market Square. Fifteen were injured.

The land, sown to pasture, was given over to the Federal and Provincial Governments for the test for a period of five years, the actual maintenance of a flock of sheep being the second and concluding part of the experiment. If this succeeds, a new and important use for large areas of British Columbia logged lands will have been demonstrated as open to commercial purposes for the rough pasturage of livestock.

British Columbia's experiment with the use of logged-off lands for pasture is challenging renewed attention. Following a favorable catch of alaskan and Dutch clover, timothy and orchard grass sown by the Province on 1,000 acres of burned-over lands at Milner, Cowichan area, the Dominion Government has arranged to pasture a flock of 200 head of sheep there next spring, it was stated by Hon. William Atkinson yesterday.

Hundreds Imperiled In Theatre

NEW YORK, Nov. 10 (AP).—A spectacular fire, which momentarily imperiled between 300 and 400 patrons, mostly children, and caused injury to six children and damage estimated at $2,500,000, tore through two floors of the Lincoln Square Theatre building today.

The immediate sequel was the launching of three investigations into its cause and the condition of the structure, which last January was the scene of a $1,000,000 fire, in which a score of firemen were injured and 190 families made homeless. The building has been reconstructed within its old walls and reopened for occupancy about three months ago.

PILED UP ON CHAIN ROCKS

Akutan, Halibut Fish Boat, Hauled Off by Tug Burard Chief Yesterday

With her engines out of order, the big halibut fisherman Akutan went ashore on the Chain Islands, outside Ganges Harbor, Saltspring Island, at 5:30 o'clock yesterday morning on a falling tide. Despite all efforts of a tug which happened along, she remained fast, with the possibility of sustaining considerable damage, being exposed to southeast winds which were blowing as well as threatened with injury on the zero tide prevailing this morning if not released.

Happening to be on her way to Up-Island points, the Island Tug & Barge Company's steam tug Burard Chief, Capt. G. M. Newell, was off Sidney when she was intercepted by the stranded craft. Arriving alongside the Akutan early in the afternoon, at 3:15 o'clock, about the hour of high water, the fisherman was floated and towed to Sidney, where she was given a preliminary survey by the San Francisco Board of Underwriters, who in company with Har-Old Elworthy, manager of the tugboat company, had motored out for the purpose.

ORDERED TO SEATTLE
Following the inspection, the Akutan was ordered to Seattle, and is now proceeding there in tow of the Burard Chief. At the Puget Sound port she will be docked and subjected to a complete survey.

The Akutan is 100 feet long, and is registered at Seattle, where she is owned by her master, Captain Ole Bjerket. She is powered with Diesel engines and has a crew of 10. Ketchikan to Seattle with a load of halibut when she went ashore. She carries a crew of eight men.

CHINESE START DEMONSTRATION

Two Arrested in Vancouver for Carrying Weapons in Incipient Riot

VANCOUVER, Nov. 10 (CP).—Two Chinese were arrested for allegedly carrying offensive weapons when police were called out tonight to put down an incipient riot in the vicinity of Main and Keefer Streets.

Mr. Sing is alleged to have been carrying a loaded revolver, and Joe Mar is alleged to have been in possession of a knuckle-duster. They were taken into custody during a demonstration staged by Chinese on Keefer Street in front of a Japanese barber shop. Shortly after 7 p.m. a group of Chinese saw one of their compatriots walk out of the barber shop operated by a Japanese woman.

SEVERELY BEATEN
Enraged at this flouting of their boycott against Japanese, the Chinese are said to have fallen upon their countryman, beating him severely. Police rushed from the station and found the scene peaceful enough.

Shortly after 9:30 p.m. a second outbreak began. Motorcycle policemen were sent from headquarters to the scene and Mr. Sing and Joe Mar, who were among the crowd, were arrested. The appearance of the motorcycle men apparently quieted the excited Oriental. Police remained at the scene for some time, however, dispersing groups of men.

RUSSIANS CHARGED WITH MASS FORGERY
LENINGRAD, Russia, Nov. 10 (AP).—The arrest by the OGPU of forty-eight persons, including a number of former nobles and one girl, on charges of engaging in mass forgery and sale of ration cards, was announced today.

Police said the suspects had sold more than 10,000 ration cards and fictitious orders for manufactured goods.

The leaders were said to have confessed and will be tried shortly.

Troops Massing Near Nonni Bridgehead, Where Repairs Are Being Rushed—No Reinforcements Unless Chinese Attack, Says Jap Command—Withdraw After Repairs

International Experts Not Certain if There's a War

(Copyright, 1931, by the Associated Press)

MUKDEN, Nov. 10.—Chinese troops sufficient to outnumber the Japanese by twenty to one were massing today at Anganchi, near the Nonni bridgehead, from which General Mah Chansan was driven last week. The two forces were separated by a "no man's land" about fifteen miles wide.

The Japanese refused to make public any figures about their strength, but it was learned on good authority that they have from 1,500 to 2,000 men entrenched against the far superior force of General Mah.

Behind this trench line Japanese were hurrying with their repairs on the Nonni Bridge. It was to repair that bridge that Japan avowedly made the incursion.

TRAINLOADS ARRIVING
The Japanese Intelligence reported that the Chinese have at least 10,000 men at Anganchi and immediately to the south. Meanwhile, trains of the Chinese Eastern Railway were bearing loads of men from the east and the west.

The Japanese command reiterated that Japan's troops would be withdrawn as soon as the bridge repairs were completed. But it is estimated, will take about a week. No reinforcements will be moved in the Japanese authorities declared unless they are required to meet a Chinese attack.

The Japanese professed to have heard nothing of General Mah's reported declaration of war. But throughout North Manchuria, it was said, anti-Japanese feeling is strong.

EXPERTS ENGROSSED
GENEVA, Nov. 10 (AP).—International experts about the headquarters of the League of Nations today were engrossed in trying to determine whether or not there is war in Manchuria.

There was something to be said on both sides of the question. The issue seemed drawn between a technical standpoint and those whose view was more for the practical purposes.

The diplomatic attitude was: "Don't call it war and maybe it isn't." The practical notion was: "It's war! Let's stop it!"

WILL BUILD DEFENCES
PARIS, Nov. 10 (AP).—If the League of Nations fails to settle the Manchurian dispute, China will build up her national defences to a point strong enough to withstand "external aggression," Dr. Alfred See, Chinese member of the League of Nations Council, told the League tonight.

Japanese authorities, he charged, are "suborning the dregs of the population" at Tientsin to foment revolt against the Chinese Government.

He made this declaration in reporting that China is ready to

Delegation Waits on Government With Scheme Asking Immediate Start on Work Under Relief Plans to Develop Scenic Beauty of Area

PROVISION by legislative enactment of a Capital City Commission, to do for British Columbia what the Ottawa Commission has done for the Dominion in the beautification of the national administrative centre, was pressed on the Provincial Government yesterday morning by a committee of leading citizens representative of public, civic and business organizations on the lower end of Vancouver Island. The delegation was received with every courtesy by Premier Tolmie and the Cabinet, and assured the seed of its requests would not fall on stony soil.

Introduced by Reginald Hayward, M.P.P., the delegation included Alderman W. T. Straith, chairman, and P. B. Pemberton, vice-chairman, of the Capital City Improvement Committee, a body which in turn represents civic, Chamber of Commerce, men and women's organizations in the Victoria, Oak Bay, Saanich, Esquimalt, Sooke and Malahat areas. These officials were supported by Miss Crease, Mrs. R. H. McIlkenny, Mrs. D. B. McConnan, Miss C. Cummins, and Thomas Walker. Rev. William Crouch, Alfred Carmichael, John Harvey, C. P. Hill, A. D. King, A. R. Harness, W. J. Semeyn, George I. Warren, P. R. Leighton, A. S. Denny and A. R. Sherwood. Messrs. Hayward, Carmichael, Pemberton, Walker and Straith acted as spokesmen for the delegation.

SUGGEST VOLUNTARY BOARD
The requests were two in number. The first was that the Government set up a voluntary board, to be known as the Capital City Improvement Commission, with legislative authority to deal with the improvement of the whole of the southern area of Vancouver Island, in development that would reflect credit

B.C. ASSURED FEDERAL AID

Loan and Direct Relief Promised by Dominion Gov't, Says Hon. J. W. Jones

Satisfactory arrangements for the financing of provincial and municipal projects undertaken in British Columbia, together with assurance of a Federal loan to further these purposes, and whatever assistance is found necessary in connection with direct relief, were secured by Hon. J. W. Jones, at Ottawa, the Minister of Finance, yesterday afternoon from the Dominion capital.

Mr. Jones said the Province had been assured of an advance in respect to the Dominion share of work already undertaken, and which advance is expected to be made shortly, and was in addition given the assurance that the Federal Government would stand behind the provincial authorities in the execution of whatever measures were found necessary to meet the situation in regard to the provision of direct relief.

WILL INCLUDE LOAN

Mr. Jones went to Ottawa particularly on financial matters and returned with a satisfactory arrangement effected for the settlement of the financing of relief measures in this province. This will include a loan of Federal funds.

With Hon. R. W. Bruhn, Minister of Works, he met Senator Gideon Robertson, Hon. H. H. Stevens and other members of the Federal unemployment committee, but did not see Rt. Hon. R. B. Bennett, who was confined to his quarters, ill.

The British Columbia delegates, said Mr. Jones, pressed on the Federal authorities the need of British Columbia, which, in some respects,

Prominent Figures in British Election Drama

has been the hardest hit among the provinces in that its mills and mines were largely closed at a time when general employment was also greatly lessened. They sought further approval of provincial works, to engage men already in the camps. Word that the British Columbia representations were in part successful came through from Ottawa last evening over press wires, when the Federal committee as to actual conditions here. At the time he left Ottawa fresh opportunity had been made for the British Columbia programme to be further reviewed, he stated.

Mr. Jones said the British Columbia delegates had pressed for this further review of their case, and had laid facts and figures before the Federal committee as to actual conditions here. At the time he left Ottawa fresh opportunity had been made for the British Columbia programme to be further reviewed, he stated.

Mr. Jones said he had gone to Ottawa principally on financial matters, and had returned with definite arrangements made in that regard. The expectation was that the Dominion would shortly announce the floating of an internal domestic loan to finance unemployment relief programmes for the coming months, as well as provide for measures already undertaken in the several provinces, Mr. Jones concluded.

The Minister of Finance was closeted with Premier Tolmie immediately on his return, and no further statement was made on behalf of the Government. Word had been expected direct from Hon. R. W. Bruhn, by long-distance telephone, but the call did not come through up to a late hour last night. Mr. Bruhn, it is expected, will get in touch with the Provincial Government as soon as he has completed negotiations in regard to British Columbia relief plans.

BY a dramatic gesture at the polls recently, people of Great Britain returned the National Government to power with an overwhelming majority and snowed the Labor Party under in the greatest defeat of any political group in some years. Here are some of those who figured prominently in the election. (1) Rt. Hon. David Lloyd George, Liberal leader, whose party suffered drastically. He is shown with small grandson. (2) Miss Megan Lloyd George, daughter of Lloyd George, was re-elected as member for Anglesey, Wales. (3) Rt. Hon. Arthur Henderson and his son, W. W. Henderson. The former is leader of the Labor Party, which suffered crushing defeat. (4) Rt. Hon. H. J. Thomas, re-elected in the National Government by a large majority. (5) Rt. Hon. George Lansbury, one of two former Labor ministers re-elected. (6) Rt. Hon. John R. Clynes, was beaten. (7) Miss Ellen Wilkinson, national health organizer, one of fourteen women members of the last House, who was defeated. (8) Sir Oswald Mosley, whose new party was wiped out. (9) Malcolm MacDonald, son of the Premier, was elected as National-Labor candidate in Bassetlaw, Nottingham. (10) Rt. Hon. Stanley Baldwin, leader of the Conservatives, whose party is assured of a clear majority in the House. (11) Lady Nancy Astor, first woman member of Parliament, re-elected. (12) Sir Herbert Samuel, leader of the National-Liberals, was returned.

on the Province of British Columbia as a whole.

The second request was that, as and when funds are available, a start will be made on works drawn from 100 submissions made to the committee in a public call for suggestions, and which, briefly put, involve loop scenic roads to Mount Douglas and Mount Tolmie, and the creation of Memorial Avenue as an outstanding memorial to British Columbia's war dead.

No part of this work, it was stressed, would fall within the city of Victoria, but all of it, as at present suggested, in the outlying districts by means of the opening up of scenic drives to bring a wide range of sea, mountain, lake, pastoral land, and other scenic views within easy reach by drives from the city. Victoria city itself, it was revealed, had been asked to improve the approach to Memorial Avenue from the city's end.

WANT ROAD TAKEN OVER

The delegation asked that Memorial Avenue be taken over by the Provincial Government, and designated a provincial highway, for upkeep and improvements; that a scenic loop road be built by way of Memorial Avenue, Lansdowne Road, Mount Tolmie Road, by the Provincial Normal School to the summit of Mount Tolmie, and back to Memorial Avenue by Cedar Hill Crossroad; construction of a scenic spiral drive from Memorial Avenue over Mount Douglas, and return to Memorial Avenue, and thence via the Cordova Bay Road to Elk Lake, and return to the city by existing roads; and finally that arrangements be made with the city to improve the approach to Memorial Avenue from the southern end.

Mr. Hayward said it was admitted that the present was not the best time to ask for the expenditure of funds, but suggested the creation of the Capital City Improvement Commission by legislation at the next session, and a start on whatever work was possible by means of unemployment relief expenditures.

HAVE NATURAL BEAUTIES

Mr. Carmichael stressed the natural beauties of the southern end of Vancouver Island, and told of the benefit of opening up this area by scenic drives, none of which would have to be extensive, or prohibitive in cost, compared to the results that would be obtained. The present proposals were culled after careful revision of 160 plans submitted by the public in an open call for ideas, and did not include improvement of Clover Point and the waterfront areas, separately taken up with the city of Victoria, it was said.

Mr. Carmichael asked road surveys be undertaken at once, and whatever work was possible be book of the dead, the great of the nation will join with the humblest. Beside the temporary cenotaph erected on the terrace fronting the Parliament Buildings, "their Excellencies the Earl and Countess of Bessborough will take their place for the service of the nation. Around them will be the Prime Minister and members of the Cabinet, members of the diplomatic and consular corps, the judiciary of Canada, high ranking officers of the armed forces of the country, representatives of state and city and church.

TROOPS TO ASSEMBLE

Drawn up in front of the cenotaph will be detachments of naval landers, uniformed guardsmen, Highlanders, detachments of dismounted cavalrymen and of other services, with bands and drums. Bemedaled veterans of the Great War, marshaled by officials of the Canadian Legion, will array themselves on three sides of the cenotaph, flanking which will be two sentinels—one from the Royal Canadian Navy and the other from the military forces. Beyond that the general public will crowd the green sward of the Parliament Square.

The hour set for commencement of the national service is 10:45 a.m. It will be announced by the great bell of the carillon, which will toll at fifteen-second intervals until 11 o'clock. When the last chimes of Big Ben have struck, gun will boom out, proclaiming the beginning of the two-minute period of silence.

KING TO LAY WREATH

LONDON, Nov. 10 (CP and AP Cables).—Great Britain and parts of Europe tomorrow will observe the thirtieth anniversary of the signing of the armistice and the cessation of hostilities which brought an end to the Great War.

In London the King will lay a wreath at the foot of the cenotaph in Whitehall, while a two-minute silence will be observed throughout the country. Nowhere will the observance bear a more sombre aspect than in Brussels, where a blue flame will be rekindled at the tomb of Belgium's unknown soldier and wreaths will be placed on the graves of the war dead. France, too, will observe the day as one of great solemnity.

DENIAL OF GUILT

In Germany, bitterness will find expression in denial of the "war guilt lie" of the Treaty of Versailles. Austria will not observe the day at all.

For the first time the Government of Rumania has decreed that a two-minute silence shall be observed throughout the country.

Italy has already celebrated the end of the war as far as she is concerned. Her hostilities against Austria were brought to a close on November 4, and on the anniversary of that date she prayed for her war dead.

FINGERPRINTS OF HIGH VALUE

Grand Jury Makes Recommendations—Condemns Home for Incurables

VANCOUVER, Nov. 10.—In a presentation to Mr. Justice Gregory in Assize Court, today, the grand jury recommended that bail should be refused anyone arrested in possession of firearms.

"Believe it or not, a petit jury here found a man guilty of holding up another with a revolver and recommended him to mercy," said Lordship, when promising that the report would be forwarded to the Attorney-General. He added that he did not see how he could give effect to the jury's recommendation for mercy. The presentment was signed by F. R. Alley, foreman of the grand jury.

ADVANTAGE TO POLICE

"We are of opinion that it would be of considerable advantage to police departments all over the country, were they permitted to fingerprint every prisoner arrested, no matter what the charge," was another recommendation.

This elicited comment from the judge that there was strong disapproval by the public to the fingerprinting of everybody. Personally, he said, he did not mind; but, until it became general, there was stigma attached to the practice. If proper finger prints had been taken in some of the cases which came before the assizes, it would have been of great assistance, he said.

HOME CONDEMNED

The Provincial Home for Incurables at Marpole was strongly condemned by the grand jury, who reported they found conditions there deplorable. The building is unsuitable for such a home, and is a veritable fire trap, they said. Several other aspects of the institution were also criticized. They recommended that a more suitable institution should be obtained as soon as possible, and that the name be changed to Provincial Infirmary.

There is no excuse for having a public institution in such a condition, commented His Lordship. The report on the Home for Incurables is very distressing, he said.

NO ADVERSE CRITICISM

Opinion in the Girls' Industrial School, the city jail and the Juvenile Detention Home were also inspected by the grand jury, and found to be conducted satisfactorily. No adverse criticism was directed at these institutions.

Lose Services of Eminent Lawyer

LONDON, Nov. 10 (CP).—Acceptance by Sir John Simon of the Foreign Secretaryship in the National Government automatically deprived several important Canadian interests of his legal services, particularly in cases before the Privy Council. It was intended he should lead for Quebec Province in the radio-control appeal, hearing of which is expected to take place early in December. It is now presumed some Canadian counsel will appear in his stead.

Junior Members of Ministry Announced By British Premier

Sir William Jowitt Retains Post of Attorney-General—Average Age of Thirty-Two Appointees Is Forty-Five

LONDON, Nov. 10 (CP).—Prime Minister Ramsay MacDonald tonight announced the names of the junior members of his ministry. Of the thirty-two appointees, nineteen are Conservatives, eight are Liberals and five are National Laborites. They are members of the ministry, but do not hold cabinet rank.

Included in the list is Malcolm MacDonald, son of the Prime Minister, who becomes Under-Secretary of State for the Dominions, a position he held in the former National Government. Sir William Jowitt, National Laborite Attorney-General in the last National administration, but defeated in the general election, retains that post. This would indicate that another seat will be found for him very shortly.

The appointments are chiefly remarkable for the comparative youthfulness of the men selected for the junior cabinet posts. The average age is forty-five, with Malcolm MacDonald, twenty-nine, being the youngest. Sir William Hamilton, Under-Secretary of State for the Colonies, sixty-four, is the oldest.

VANCOUVER, Nov. 10.—Decision was reserved by Magistrate G. R. McQueen in police court this morning in the cases of James Ambrose and Arthur Ambrose, charged with vagrancy arising out of the unemployed demonstration, November 2. A similar charge against Arthur Dyson was dismissed.

A plea of not guilty was entered by Bro. Jacobson to a charge of carrying an offensive weapon on the same occasion. Decision was reserved. Evidence was submitted by Constable Latimer to the effect that accused was carrying a rock bound in a handkerchief, and was attempting to strike a uniformed officer with it.

TO SELL JEWELS

PARIS, Nov. 10 (AP).—The return which followed former King Alfonso of Spain into exile is beginning to feel the pinch of financial need and the Infanta Eulalia said today that she planned to sell her jewels so that her grandson, Prince Alvaro de Bourbon-Orleans, might marry the Princess Beatrice, daughter of the former monarch. "These reports that Alfonso is opposed to the marriage are ridiculous," she said. "He is not opposed. We simply have been unable to make any plans because none of us has any money. The boy's father, Don Alfonso d'Orleans, has lost a great deal. I'm going to sell my jewels. I've got to get money. Then I hope this marriage can take place."

Whitehall—and Peace

BY STANLEY E. HIGGS

Leading the Empire in an act of homage to her glorious dead, George King and Emperor, with stirring solemnity to the accompaniment of the strangely potent phrases of the "Chanson d'Amour," laid his wreath at the base of the simple stone Cenotaph which stands in the midst of a main highway in the heart of our Empire, a lasting memorial to faith of a Motherland, to a faith moreover which was not misplaced.

As the majestically rendered music lingered on the morning air, representing to the Dominion and Colonies and of many other nations, and among them friends who had lately been enemies, placed their tributes before the Cenotaph, inspired by the conviction that their action was done in the cause of peace.

With the striking of the first quarters of the hour by "Big Ben" at Westminster a solemn stillness seemed to descend on the huge crowd congregated within the vicinity of Whitehall. The silence was even more greatly intensified when the notes of "Big Ben" had died away, the fluttering of the flags flying at half-mast over the Colonial Office, could be distinctly heard in the street below, and the whispering of a child some distance away in the crowd served only to deepen the silence which cannot be described but once experienced, can never be forgotten.

AT END OF SILENCE

After two very long minutes the silence was broken by the hollow, undulating notes of the "Last Post," after which the Bishop of London led the King and people in prayer; the strains of the ever popular hymn, "O God, Our Help, In Ages Past," led the huge crowd in a splendid rendering of this wonderful expression of human dependence upon God.

"Be Thou our guard while troubles last, And our Eternal Home!"

The notes of the reveille rang out in confirmation of the hope for a new life, new pride.

Today a whole world mourns. Her heart is rent anew. And in this solemn hour Remembrance Puts us truly to flight, For out of death Is born new life.

And Germany, too, is sad today. Mourning her sons who died. Those many hearts loved life and home and peace. But out of pride. Because of love they died.

Weid all our lives in one, great warrior chief, Give to the weak new strength, temper the strong. Claim all our hearts and lead us, lead us on.

To follow Thee, and marching, share thy cross; Never to lay it down until the crown is won.

Counting misfortune only gain, not loss.

Four years have passed since that November of '27, years, spent by the writer in Canada, which have been convincing in their many evidences that Canada's noble sacrifice in the cause of the Motherland, the Empire, and peace has served to unite, even in their many evidences, sons to a noble mother.

During these four years England has borne many griefs and travails with sorrow, but we can see the birth of a new spirit, and once again England and the Empire challenge the world; it is not a war cry that pierces the air, but the shrill, clear call of peace, and as in the dark days of 1914, so once again today, England's confidence in her purpose is made complete by the faith which she renews upon her sons and daughters throughout the Empire, and to our endless credit let it again be said that that faith was not misplaced.

SEEKS SEAT ON POLICE BOARD

Dr. Stanley F. Miles Candidate—Ratepayers to Meet Friday

With Dr. Stanley F. Miles, dentist, officially in the field of candidates for the Police Commission, and announcements expected from Commissioner Andrew McGavin and Walter E. Staniland, the annual municipal campaign is beginning to arouse keen interest.

Dr. Miles was in the campaign last year as candidate for the school board, but this year his friends have persuaded him to try for the lone seat on the police board. He will run as an independent.

The next big event in the battle is the meeting of the Victoria Ratepayers' Association, to take place in the Chamber of Commerce Auditorium on Friday night, commencing at 8 o'clock. It is expected this meeting will be largely attended, as all association candidates will make their first appearance at the gathering. The last meeting of the association, over a month ago, was held at the police board. Frank Higgins, K.C., will be chairman.

Just Roamin' Around

By TWO ROVERS

This is Armistice Day! It is a day of sad memories for old and young, and yet it is a day of rejoicing, too; for, it marked the end of hostilities, an end of sacrificing useful, fruitful lives, and a hoped-for end, after five long years of hatred and consuming rancor.

Today is an anniversary of that eleventh hour when a tired world first envisioned peace.

It is a day in which to offer up our thanks for deliverance from the torture of our own convulsion, our own human-sorrow-bringing; a day when we show our reverence for those whose bravery gave us the victory; when we remember, with love, our glorious dead; and when we should, also, pray for the future peace of the world and the end of man's self-inflicted punishment and deprivation of birthright.

It is a sad reflection on our vaunted civilization and culture, in these latter days, that we, as a race, seem to have retrograded in our knowledge of how to keep the peace! There is an old adage that says, "Man is half beast and half angel," which surely needs revision, since we stand always at bay with our dread, instead of being strong enough to cope with and defeat our enemy-war; for, as it now really stands, the proportions are nine-tenths beastly, and but one-tenth, if that, angelic.

OUR GLORIOUS DEAD

They gave their lives, that we might live. In full security and peace; A priceless gift—their all to give—That hate might die and war cease!

We are the heirs of their estate; We live, they died; In love, remembrance dedicated! We hold their memory sanctified!

HAD PLENTY STAMPS BUT NO NOTEPAPER

SASKATOON, Nov. 10.—Edele Doucet has perfected a new form of begging, but it did not put him inside the reach of the criminal law, it appeared in police court today.

Doucet had gone from house to house asking for postage stamps and notepaper so he might "write to his sister in Montreal." Police found fifty-six stamps on him but no notepaper. Asked why he begged for stamps when he had so many stamps already, Doucet replied that he wished to have them when the occasion arose to write to his sister. He will have one month of leisure to write the letters.

FARMERS ARE OPTIMISTIC

George B. Woods Finds a More Hopeful Tone on Western Prairies

"I am very optimistic with regard to Canada. Business is improving, conditions are becoming more normal, and there is a decidedly better feeling throughout the country," said George B. Woods, president of the Continental Life Assurance Company who arrived in the city yesterday during a tour of Western Canada.

The visitor is not only interested in the affairs of his company, but takes a very deep interest in many branches of work associated with the public well being of the country. He is a member of the Ontario Government parole board, which performs a great humanitarian work in connection with the prisons of that province. He is also a member of the hospital board of Toronto and of the Church of England settlement.

On his tour through Western Canada, Mr. Woods says he found the people far more hopeful. Any feeling of despair which may have existed before has now passed away, and he discovered the farmers of the West, even in the parts of the prairies that were affected the worst, again courageous and optimistic.

In and about Regina where there was a severe blow struck owing to the general failure of the crops, he found this optimism very strongly developed. The land, they stated, was in the best condition for a crop next year that it has ever been. These settlers are looking to next year, with its promised yield, and with the expectation of better things in the way of price.

ADVANCE IN PRICE
"Next year the advance in the price of wheat may bring one dollar and a half wheat," said the visitor.

The English economists are looking forward to a decided advance owing to a shortage being in sight, he said. In view of the whole situation, he was of the opinion that there was no reason on the part of Canadians to complain. Canada, he expects, will be among the very first countries to come back to normal, and he also believes that Great Britain will be among the first nations to recover. The cotton factories, Mr. Woods pointed out, were reported to be increasing their output already.

As far as his company was concerned, Mr. Woods said it had had a good year in view of all the conditions. E. C. Alward, superintendent for Western Canada for the company, accompanied the president to Victoria. They were in conference with James Moss, local agent, yesterday.

"Next year the advance in the price of wheat may bring one dollar and a half wheat," said the visitor.

The English economists are looking forward to a decided advance owing to a shortage being in sight, he said. In view of the whole situation, he was of the opinion that there was no reason on the part of Canadians to complain. STORMS DELAY SEARCH SHIPS

Castaways Reported by Airplane Pilot Have Not Been Located

MIAMI, Nov. 10 (AP)—Tropical radio station here was informed that the steamers Costa Rica and Gelsha, cruising the Caribbean Sea near Cartagena in a search for eleven castaways, were forced by inclement weather early today to halt their search. They stood by to resume as soon as possible.

The Costa Rica said no trace of the shipwrecked group was found. Captain Frank Ormsbee, airplane pilot, said he had seen a lifeboat and life raft yesterday afternoon, with seas running high in face of a twenty-five-mile wind that prevented his landing to effect a rescue. The Costa Rica and the Gelsha were hampered by heavy winds and rainfall.

Each coming year inherits from each passing year (a) Substantial assets and (b) Heavy liabilities.

Each Council should wisely administer and conserve the assets, and provide interest and sinking fund on the liabilities.

The assets are those magnificent public works which render Victoria one of the best equipped cities in Canada, plus some 4,000 vacant lots with little present value but with important potentialities.

The sale of the 4,000 vacant lots will greatly aid later years in retiring the city's bonded debt. And the bonded debt was increased $4,500,000.00 by the default of the former owners of those lots.

If we pay the debt represented by those lots and pass the lots down to posterity, we shall be unjustly taxed and posterity will reap without sowing.

The year 1945 will inherit from 1944 a fully equipped city just as 1932 will inherit from 1931 a fully equipped city. There is no reason why 1945 should not contribute dollar for dollar with 1932. Each passing year should pay interest on the debt, but the proceeds from the sale of the lots should provide the sinking fund.

Development in Victoria is well nigh impossible, because of taxation high in comparison with surrounding municipalities. It is not wise to shape our course to secure our share of building development, our share of increased population, and our share of land increment?

It is not economy to neglect assets. Economy is wise expenditure. But substantial tax reduction is well nigh impossible even by neglecting assets.

Everything points to a rate of from 48 to 50 mills in 1932, unless steps are taken to avoid it. A mill rate of 48 was avoided in 1931 by the issue of new bonds amounting to $200,000.00. These bonds are at present unsold. Financial experts advise against a further issue next year.

I speak with ten years' experience in the City Hall, during which I probed deeply into municipal problems. I assert with confidence that the city's current expenses are well controlled, but that large tax abatement can be achieved by readjustment of the debt charges. This involves no injustice to posterity in view of posterity's landed inheritance.

Victoria's Poppy Cross

GUARDED by two pretty misses representing the navy and the army, the "community cross" of poppies attracted considerable interest on Poppy Day last Saturday. The cross was placed at the intersection of Yates and Douglas Streets, and hundreds of citizens placed a poppy in the cross red. This cross is being placed at the Cenotaph today as Victoria's tribute to the memory of those who made the supreme sacrifice in the Great War.

The Life of Thomas A. Edison

By DAVID WILSON
(Copyright, 1931, by North American Newspaper Alliance, Inc.)

PART XX
Thomas Edison came to 1877 with a feeling of acute boredom, a new experience. His son Charles was supervising his "invention factory" at West Orange, N.J., and all his other factories, and was doing it most effectively.

The senior Edison was no longer needed to keep the great industries he had created going at top speed. He was elderly, but that meant nothing to an Edison. His father, grandfather and great-grandfather all had lived past ninety.

Thomas Edison was an institution. His birthdays were receptions with nations waiting to read the interviews he gave once a year. He found this as bothersome as dull in 1927 as he had found the honors of foreign governments on his European trip in 1889.

Mrs. Edison might beg him, in her motherly way, to rest. She always had begged him to rest, knowing that he would not.

But Edison did not relish rest. He needed something to do, and Henry Ford and Harvey Firestone had been talking every time they went on camping trips with Edison about rubber, and how it ought to be grown in the United States. They wanted domestic rubber? Very well, they were old friends, and he would give it to them.

Edison's long, grey hair was thinning; his beard brown was almost white. That did not matter. He set out on experiments that could not end in less than a decade.

RUBBER EXPERIMENTS
He set about testing thousands of plants for signs of substance similar to rubber. He found traces in 1,600 plants, mostly species of goldenrod, and ragweed, and the rank growths of the countryside. He ordered gardens of these plants, and grew and tested until only forty remained, all goldenrod or cousins of goldenrod. He supervised cross-breeding until he had species ten feet tall and rich in gummy sap like rubber.

Edison's method was the method of the '80's, when he was pursuing the ideal sort of bamboo for his incandescent lamp. Once more he was ready to try anything, confident Nature would not withhold a secret if he sought long enough to discover it.

For the first time, weakness and illness began to hamper his experiments, but he was still the same old Edison, patient to exhaustion with his trial and error method; still the Edison of baggy, uncared for clothes, wearing varying numbers of suits of underwear to suit the day so he would not need to be hampered by a topcoat; still the Edison who would pursue an idea through 50,000 experiments if he needed to find perfection.

There were interruptions in this search for rubber; interruptions Edison never would have stood for in years gone by. There was that special medal from Congress in 1928, commemorating Edison's achievements, with President Coolidge joining the rest of the nation in paying tribute; there was the fiftieth anniversary of his electric light in 1929, which inevitably became a celebration for Edison instead of for his invention. That was when Henry Ford took the time to build a plant at Menlo Park to Dearborn, Mich., erecting the building where the electric light was born to commemorate Edison's old friend and a great discovery.

DISLIKED HONORS
It was all well meant, and Edison appreciated it. But he disliked honors and show as much as ever, and he wanted to stay at work upon his search for domestic rubber.

He must have looked back, during those great celebrations in his honor, over the years that lay behind, over his successes and his failures. For he had had failures. There was wireless, whose discovery he had missed by so narrow a margin; there were the automatic telegraph and the grasshopper telegraph from moving trains, which accidents of business had buried; there was a one-piece poured concrete house which Edison had once hoped to make available to the workman at amazingly low cost; there was a flying machine propelled by charges of gun cotton, exploding in series, which Edison had patented in 1908, but never had developed.

The failures may have sprung up before his eyes, but so also must the successes. The modern American, from the time he arises in the morning, awakened by an electric alarm clock, until he leaves the motion picture theatre at night, uses progressively the developments from one after another of Edison's inventions. No other man has left such a mark upon his age.

But even in 1929, when all the nation paid tribute, Edison could not be satisfied. There still remained unfinished business—rubber. He worked through 1929 and 1930 and the early months of 1931, experimenting almost constantly in Florida and New Jersey. He was progressing, but he could make no attempt to tell in detail what he had accomplished until he was ready to turn out rubber in quantity at less than the market price.

HAD SUPREME CONFIDENCE
He was still working when his last illness came upon him, approaching success, but not quite yet a victor. That was what made him restless in his last months, when his physicians and nurses found it so difficult to keep him quiet, and only Mrs. Edison could persuade him to take his medicine. Edison demanded that his doctors tell him in detail what was in every dose they gave him. Against their skill he placed his supreme confidence in himself. He wanted to get back to work.

Probably he was happier dying with something to do, than with stretching out ahead of him than he would have been had the loose ends of the last experiment been wound up. For no experiment, even really complete for Edison, there remained always the possibility of improvement and another patent to add to the hundreds upon hundreds issued in his name.

In 1912, when Edison was sixty-five, he told an interviewer that he estimated he had already done the equivalent of 115 years' work in the life of an ordinary eight-hour-a-day man.

"When I am eighty-five," he said, "I will have done the life of 150 years, and then I may learn to play bridge with the ladies." Edison set his goal at 150 years of work, and that goal, like nearly every other goal he set for himself, he reached.

The End.

CIVIL SERVANTS ELECT OFFICERS
Sidney Chilverall Is New President—Tribute Paid by Members to Aubrey Jones

One of the most successful and active years since the organization was organized was concluded by the Victoria Branch of the Amalgamated Civil Servants' Association at its annual meeting held in the Law Chambers last night.

Sidney Chilverall was elected to the position of president, succeeding S. A. Shrimpton, the retiring leader. Other officers elected were Walter Lechner, vice-president and auditor, and J. Cleator, secretary-treasurer. Tribute was paid to the work of Aubrey Jones, retiring secretary-treasurer, for his untiring efforts in the cause of the association. Mr. Jones has been secretary of the organization ever since it was formed in September, 1927, and was one of those who worked in the founding of the local branch.

REVIEWS ACTIVITIES
In reviewing the past year's work, Mr. Jones pointed out that some of the outstanding accomplishments were the organizing of the group insurance system; organization of a national defence group of the Amalgamated Civil Servants, and affiliation with the Victoria Chamber of Commerce.

During the year visits were made to the city by the national president, vice-president and secretary. Mr. Jones attended the national convention and gave a detailed report of the activities in the association's publication, The Organizer.

The national organization was in a stronger financial position than ever, it was reported. The balance on hand at the conclusion of the fiscal year was $7,613, it was reported.

Chinese Police Round Up Rebels in Tientsin—Punishment Is Swift

TIENSIN, China, Nov. 10 (AP).—Four hundred rebels who took part in yesterday's rioting were captured today by Chinese police, who summarily beheaded a number of them. The round-up was made in the native city. Estimates at the height of the rioting were that at least 2,000 men were involved. Among those who escaped, police reported, were several of the leaders.

Strong police action, coupled with the aid of armed civilians, brought quiet to Tientsin today, but the authorities continued their vigilance, fearing another outbreak.

Peiping sent troops reinforcements, which were kept in the Hopei district and were not allowed in the area between the Japanese concession and the Chinese city, the scene of the worst rioting yesterday.

Officials of the municipal government moved their headquarters from the old German concession to the other end of the city.

A gun boom at intervals most of the morning, but so far as could be learned, no damage was done and the authorities doubted if any loaded shells had been fired.

Dickens Clubs May Broadcast Music of Opera

"The Cricket on the Hearth," Dickens' Christmas story, next in popularity to the famous "Carol," was set to music as an opera by the Hungarian composer, Karl Goldmark, and first performed in Berlin in 1896. The opera was given in the United States for the first time in 1910.

Upton's "Standard Opera" says: "It is a simple, charming story, illustrated by simple, charming, tuneful music that appeals to the heart rather than to the head. It is all fresh and spontaneous from beginning to end, and the story and music are perfectly blended. The special points of interest are the chorus of the elves, the cricket's song, 'I Am the Cricket,' and the home song in the first act; the quintette, Dot's dance, and cricket's song in the second; and the prelude and the basis of which is German folk music."

HALIBUT BODY CALLS MEETING

International Commission Gives Warning of Depletion in North Pacific

Serious depletion on halibut banks in North Pacific waters, together with measures proposed to arrest the decline, and perpetuate the fisheries which have for so long yielded a rich harvest to Canadian and American vessels, will be publicly considered at a series of meetings called by the International Fisheries Commission this month, it was stated yesterday by John P. Babcock, chairman of the group. Previous to meetings at Seattle and Prince Rupert, the commission will privately meet members of the conference board from Vancouver, Prince Rupert, Kelowna and Seattle.

At the public hearings, to open at Seattle on November 18, in the Chamber of Commerce rooms, at Prince Rupert on November 26, in Moose Hall, discussion will be invited on the limitation of catches in all areas, regulations as to clearance of vessels, collection of statistics, and the closing of halibut fishing areas, where the catch now consists largely of baby halibut.

TO MEET FISHERMEN
 Under international laws the commission has the power to regulate and control the industry for the benefit of fishermen of both countries, and can do this by catch limitation, regulation of fishing gear, adjustment of fishing seasons, and in other ways. Before exercising any of these powers the commission desires to get into personal contact with representatives of the industry, at the public meetings scheduled.

Alarming depletion of halibut on all banks south of Cape Spencer is spoken of by the commissioners, together with a steady decline in the catches per skate in the Gulf of Alaska.

OVERWHELMING EVIDENCE
 "The evidence of depletion on the southern bank is overwhelming and calls for remedial action, and it is manifest conditions cannot go on as they are without destroying the fishery," Mr. Babcock stated yesterday, in announcing the public meetings arranged.

The commission was created in 1925, and has sounded repeated warnings since that date as to the serious depletion of halibut in North Pacific waters.

GAME OR SLAM?

There are four important ways of showing strength—four bids which are forcing, and, as such, obligate a response. Each of them is made in a different bidding position. These four bids are as follows:

1. As dealer, an exceptionally strong hand—five honor tricks or more—is shown by an opening bid of two in a suit.
2. When responding to an opening bid of three honor tricks (or more) are shown by a forcing takeout. This is a bid of one trick more than is necessary in a suit not previously shown.
3. The opening hand can also make a forcing takeout. A jump bid in a new suit by the opening bidder, after a minimum response by partner, is a forcing rebid. This bid is made when game seems probable on the basis of the bidding and usually shows a minimum of four honor tricks in the hand.
4. When defending against an opening bid, an exceptionally strong hand is shown by an overbid of the adversary's suit.

Of these four types of bids, the second is the most important. It has often been described as "the game of the bidding system." Here—from the Anglo-American duplicate match of 1930—is a good example of its use.

North—Dealer.

East—West vulnerable.

♠ 9 7 4 2
 ♥ 10
 ♦ K 10 9 7 5 4 3
 ♣ 6

♠ A K J 5
 ♥ A K J 3
 ♦ K 10 8 7 5
 ♣ A Q 9 2

At the table where England sat East and West, the bidding was as follows:

North East South West
 Pass 1♠ Pass 5♠
 Pass 6♠ Pass Pass

The deal was thus played in four spades, and with a heart opening from South, East had the mortification of making thirteen tricks after only contracting for ten.

Under the forcing system, such a fiasco would have been impossible. Here was the bidding at table two—where Mr. Lightner, as it happened, sat, while I was sitting West:

North East South West
 Pass 1♠ Pass 5♠
 Pass 6♠ Pass Pass

The crucial bid was West's forcing takeout of three clubs. This, flashes to East the following message:

CAGE SQUADS DIVIDE GAMES

Buyats Score Easy Victory Over Duncan Seniors—Local Women Lose

Victoria and Duncan teams split even in the exhibition games played last night in the Memorial Hall. In the opening fixture, the girls' team representing the Standard Steam Laundry was defeated by the Up-Islanders, 25 to 19, while in the men's frays the Buyats overwhelmed the visitors by a 36-to-12 score.

The first game was evenly contested, the first half ending with the girls leading with a 12-to-10 edge. In the third quarter the visiting team scored five points to their opponent's one, and from this stage until the end of the game kept the lead.

In the feature game of the evening, the Buyats played rings around the Duncan squad to finish on the high end of the score. Poor shooting and penalties accounted chiefly for the Up-Islanders' weak showing, while a fine class of combination plays was responsible for the points chalked up by the home team.

Le Marquand refereed both games, and the line-ups were as follows: Duncan Girls—Ina Casteley (7), F. Weeks (4), R. Weeks (3), A. Arthur (4) and MacDonald (7). Standard Steam Laundry—Hilda Scott (4), Peggy McDonald (4), North Scott, Vera Poulister, Ina Poulister (11), Dot Rendell, Greta O'Connell.

Duncan Men—R. McDonald (2), L. Talbot, L. Fletcher, H. Talbot (6), A. Darum, A. Evans (3), D. Pitt (1), Buyats—MacDonald (2), L. Patrick (10), Gullip (2), Forbes (6), Cuddell (7), Shepherd (4), Brown (2) and Bisset (3).

King Carol's Brother Wed In Rumania

BUCHAREST, Nov. 10 (AP).—The morganatic marriage of Prince Nicholas of Rumania with Mme. Jana Lucia Delyi, in a dramatic elopement yesterday, despite King Carol's stern disapproval of the union, had royal circles buzzing with excitement.

Prince Nicholas, fascinated by the charms of the brunette beauty, ignored his elder brother's refusal to sanction the marriage, leaped into his racing car and made a wild dash to Tohan and completed the mayor of that town to perform the ceremony.

With determination similar to King Carol's where the auburn-haired Mme. Magda Lupescu was concerned, the twenty-eight-year-old prince refused to let his loving bride be thwarted by the arguments of the King.

So violent was the King's wrath at his young brother's defiance of his counsel that he ordered all records of the ceremony to be destroyed and authorized the Bucharest Government to issue a flat denial that the marriage had taken place.

The Mayor of Tohan, a small town near Buzau, knowing that he had incurred sharp criticism for performing the ceremony without the sanction of the King, excused himself by declaring he knew no other course to follow when the determined prince rode up to his home amid a cloud of dust and ordered him to perform the ceremony.

Shaken by the honor which had so unceremoniously been thrust upon him, the mayor finally recovered sufficiently to seize the telephone and convey the news to Bucharest.

CREMONA BINDING

What King Carol would do with his defiant young brother was a matter of lively speculation today. There seemed little that he could do inasmuch as the civil ceremony uniting the Prince and Mme. Delyi was apparently binding.

Disapproval of the union was interpreted in some circles as an indication he had undergone a decided change of viewpoint since he once renounced his right to the Rumanian throne rather than give up Mme. Lupescu, that he had definitely given up any intention he might have had of marrying her and that if he did marry, it would be with the princess of some ruling house.

On account of the unavoidable absence of the regent who has met with a slight accident, and through a misunderstanding, the bills connected with the recent "Pageant of Shaw's" had not all been received, and a full financial report will be given at the next meeting. Votes of thanks were expressed to Mr. J. H. Fletcher for the use of his store for the sale of tickets, and to the press for publicity. A good collection of clothing for the child welfare was received, and all members who have not already given their donations are asked to notify Mrs. Tadmor or leave them at the new room, 202 Union Building.

Allies Chapter

The monthly meeting of the Allies Chapter, Sidney, was held in the Scouts' and Guides' Hall in Sidney, a good number of members being present. The members stood in silent tribute to the memory of Mr. J. S. H. Malson, whose death removed one who will be missed for his kind and generous nature. The question of international reduction of armament was presented for those wishing to sign. The treasurer's report showed a balance of $42.67 and $11.57 for the Solarium. The chapter decided to send $5 to Miss Grease for the provincial cot. It was reported that the following had been sent to the Solarium: three dozen pairs stockings, one coat, one sfglan, three quarts jam, besides clothing and flowers. Mrs. Helson moved that the executive has charge of arrangements for Mrs. Appleton's lecture. A generous response was received to a request for clothing for a destitute family in the North. Upon adjournment the chapter heard a report from Miss Hlace Terry of the national meeting at Nova Scotia.

Parent—Look here, my boy, you are in the second grade and still can't count over ten. What will be come of you?

Junior—Aw, don't worry, Pop, I'll go into one of those businesses where they advertise, "Nothing over 10 cents."

VERNON GIRL IS BURSARY WINNER

Phyllis M. Freeman, Capitan I.O.D.E. 1932-33 Overseas Scholarship for B.C.

Phyllis M. Freeman, of Vernon, has been awarded the 1932-1933 post-graduate overseas scholarship for British Columbia. It was announced at a meeting of the Imperial Order of the Daughters of the Empire provincial committee of selection on Monday.

Miss Freeman is the daughter of a veteran who served overseas from 1918 to 1918, being wounded at the battle of Vimy and awarded the Military Medal. She graduated from the University of British Columbia in 1929 with first-class honors in history and won the Historical Society's gold medal. After a year in the educational course at U.B.C., she proceeded to Smith College, where she took her M.A. degree, and is at the present engaged in sociological research in Washington, D.C., under a special scholarship.

TO CONTINUE WORK
She intends to continue her work under the I.O.D.E. overseas scholarship at the School of Economics, University of London, England.

Besides maintaining her high scholastic standing, Miss Freeman was very active in undergraduate affairs at the University of British Columbia. She was a member of the editorial staff of 'The Odyssey' and a member of several discussion clubs.

These scholarships form the permanent war memorial under the I.O.D.E. There has been set aside and invested a sum sufficient to support nine annual scholarships, each of at least $1,400 in value. At present the scholarships carry $1,600 with extra apportionment to students of the four Western Provinces for traveling expenses.

VALUE IS $1,600

It is within the province of the committee of selection to reapportion a student for a second year, and two in British Columbia were awarded scholarships for two years, Frederick J. Brand, B.Sc. (Oxon) and F. Morley, B.A., now at Edinburgh University.

The personnel of the committee is: Mrs. Curtis Sampson, provincial I.O.D.E. president; Mrs. Andrew Wright, councillor; Rt. Rev. Bishop of Columbia, Judge Laupman, Dr. S. J. German Hitlerites Dedicate Flags

Germany Has Several Powerful Organized Political Groups Who All Have Their Own Ideas About How the Country Should Be Run. In the Above Picture Is Shown a Gathering of the Members of the National

ELECT OFFICIALSW. Ellis Brown to Direct Activities of Service Club During Next Twelve MonthsThe Kiwanis Club at its luncheon
yesterday entertained Capt. M. W.
Plunkett and a part of his talented Dumbells Company. The remainder of the time at the disposal of the members was taken up in the formal election of officers and the presentation of the annual report of the retiring president, Donald McAfee.Mr. McAfee expressed his appreciation of the way in which the members of the club had supported him during the year and wished for his successor, W. E. Brown, the same measure of assistance. In spite of the conditions prevailing the club had maintained its membership well throughout the year.
There had been five new members received, while the loss had been only fourteen. With this, Mr. Mc-Afee said, he hoped for a bright future for the club.The treasurer's report, which was a gratifying one, showed a surplus.
The activities of the year had been diversified as set out by the president with a number of visits to other clubs in the district. A compliment was paid to the secretary, Walter Walker.The officers as submitted by the nominating committee were elected by acclamation as follows: President, W. E. Brown; vice-president,
C. J. McDowell; district trustee,
William Lunney; treasurer, A. Victor King; directors, E. D. Lachure, Bryon Johnston, Archie Gibbs, R.
Mackenzie, Harvey Beale, Ernest Eve and Austin Curtis.Captain Plunkett expressed his pleasure at the reception which had been accorded his company in Victoria, which had always ex-tended a hearty welcome to him and his party of entertainers. He contributed musical numbers, as did also Red Newman, while Norman Redhead acted as accompanist. Joe Carr also contributed to the programme.VICTORIA ENDORSES HOSPITAL AREA PLAN
TO ASSIST JUBILEEVictoria City Council, meeting as committee of the whole yesterday morning, endorsed the plan of a hospital area in the lower part of Vancouver Island. Alderman John
A. Worthington was chairman of the committee and explained the proposal as outlined and approved by the meeting of representatives of the four municipalities and the board of directors of the Royal Jubilee Hospital.Oak Bay is partially agreeable to the plan, Saanich and Esquimalt are opposed to it and, in order to secure a greater amount of support to the proposal, a further meeting of representatives will be held at the hospital on Friday night. It is hoped at this meeting that some scheme will be agreed upon which will meet with the approval of all the municipalities.The Royal Jubilee Hospital is in need of funds and the creation of a hospital area with municipalities contributing would solve at least a portion of the financial problem with which the hospital is faced.

What Today Means

"SCORPIO"
If November 11 is your birthday,
the best hours for you on this date
are from 9 a.m. to 11 a.m., from 4 p.m. to 5 p.m., and from 7:40 p.m.
to 9 p.m. The danger periods are from 7 a.m. to 8:35 a.m., and from 2 p.m. to 3:40 p.m.The planetary aspects are powerful on November 11, and will promote very strong feelings and impulsive actions. Guard your tongue, guard your correspondence, and be careful to what you sign your name!
Any dealings with those of the opposite sex should be entered into with caution.Considerable determination is shown in the character of the child born on this November 11. Outwardly it will be seen to be both reserved and intellectual; but at heart
it will be emotional and will be guided by its feelings rather than by reason. It will have a sweet and cheerful disposition.If you were born on November 11,
the legacy of life should bring you much more than it has, because you expect too much from luck, and have never shown to the world your own true, unadorned self-value.
You feel your own importance, and you want the world to accept you at your own economic value without further proof of your true merit.
What you lack is not luck, but the same word with the letter "p" in front of it. You are afraid to gamble with life and you shrink from hardships. You are afraid to set up your own faith against the world's seeming indifference.Your business assets are: one—an eye for details and also for the salient points in any undertaking;
two—a convincing manner; three—considerable foresight. Your business weaknesses are: one—a lack of patience; you are apt to push things too fast for their logical development; two—a too little confidence in the other fellow.Your social assets are: one—a delightful sense of humor; two—the ability to listen as well as to talk; three—the ability to talk in an entertaining manner; four—an appreciation of sports, and the ability to play games well.You are slightly the victim of moods, and it is hard for you to smile under adverse circumstances.
Your nature is a sensitive one, and you do not know how to bear the little difficulties of life."Is your husband in, Mrs. Gossip?" asked the caller.
"Yes, he's in," replied the lady.
"Good," exclaimed the caller, taking a step over the front mat. "Then perhaps I'll get the money he owes me.""You're a bit of an optimist," smiled the wife, knowingly. "If my husband had any money he wouldn't be in."LAST TIMES TODAY

CHICAGO, Nov. 10 (AP).—Sammy Mandell, once lightweight champion of the world, is through with the ring.

Mandell announced his retirement today after the Illinois State Athletic Commission ruled his rule and ordered his purse of $1,250 paid after it had been held up pending review of his bout with Ralph Lewis, Union City, N.J., here last Wednesday.

The bout, a scheduled ten-round mix, was stopped in the eighth by the referee, who declared it no contest.

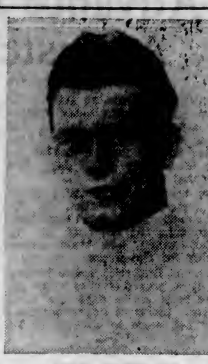

General John V. Clinin, chairman of the commission, and president of the National Boxing Association, said Mandell's purse was paid only because of his previous record. He said Mandell had been placed on the retired list and the sheik of Rockford agreed to hang up his gloves after Clinin urged him to quit.

Harry—Did you hear about the explosion last night?

Freddie—No. What happened?

Harry—The wind blew up the river.

CAREY HANDED OVER DUTIES

Former Outfielder Takes Over Managerial Reins of Brooklyn Ball Club

NEW YORK, Nov. 10 (AP).—Max Carey, former footloose outfielder of the National League, took over the management of the Brooklyn Dodgers today.

He gave a lengthy audience to an office full of newspapermen and discussed his aspirations. Not once did he dodge the issue, but looked the boys squarely in the eyes and gave his own answer.

The first question popped at him concerned Hack Wilson and Pat Malone. Was he in the market for the pair the Chicago Cubs have offered to the highest bidder?

"Positively not," said Carey. "I'd rather somebody else would take the gamble. Wilson is a fine ball player when he's going right and Malone is a good pitcher, but they're too big a gamble."

Were there any players on the Brooklyn roster he was particularly impressed with, whom he wouldn't consider trading?

"Not a one. We've got a bunch of good baseball players, but I'll trade any one of them in a minute if I figure it will help our chances at a pennant. Yes, I've got some trades in mind, but it's against the rules to discuss them now. I'm going to try to build up this club and win a flag at the same time. It can be done."

BADMINTON

MIXED DOUBLES

The game of mixed doubles is probably the most popular of the badminton game, and in the opinion of the writer has every right to be.

We have few games in which the female sex comes in actual contact with the male, and no doubt the lady who outmatches or outshoots her male opponent derives a great deal of pleasure from it. As stated before, the best way of beating a woman is for the lady to play the net and the man to cover all the back court.

The majority of male players are of the opinion that the ladies do not move fast enough, so take heed, ladies, and get started a little sooner. While the man serves, the lady should keep her position at the net, moving to the centre as soon as her partner drops back, face the net and try to form the habit of crossing one leg in front of the other when making for a shot.

For instance, if you are in centre court position by the net and a bird is dropped to your right, it is possible to cover more than half of the court if you will bring the left leg over the right in the form of a lunge; one more step will cover your entire court. The same will apply to the left court, only bringing the right leg over the left. The short service line should be your "dead" line; any shot you can reach without jumping, take. Get your racket up high and with a down flick of the wrist it is possible to do with the bird that which your partner at your back has to put in a considerable amount of energy to accomplish. Practice that delicate touch that is so needed around the net; get on the court early or practice in your sitting-room, and put a piece of string or ribbon at the correct height, five feet, and just tip the bird over, passing your racket under the string to tip it back. See how long you can keep it up. It will be only a matter of time before these delicate shots will become quite easy to you.

There are a number of "plays" to work out which I will try and explain at different times beginning with next week.

Four Junior Loop Soccer Fixtures Carded Saturday

At Work Point Barracks, the 5th Brigade will tangle with the Y.M.C.A., with Bundoock in charge, while Royal Oak will meet Oaklands at Reynolds Field, with Saunders at the whistle. Equinall will hook up with the Jokers at Victoria West Park, with Windsor refereeing. Saanich Thistles and Victoria Juniors will fight it out at Hampton Road, with Alcock in charge. All fixtures will start at 2:45 o'clock.

BYRNE SUSPENDED BY HOCKEY DUKES

KANSAS CITY, Mo., Nov. 10 (AP).—Pat Byrne, a K.C. pug, was suspended indefinitely today by William F. Grant, owner of the Kansas City club and president of American Hockey League, for refusal to report for practice.

Grant said Byrne ignored the order to report here October 28, and that he was allowed additional time, but failed to appear.

Grant said Byrne is at home in Ottawa, Ont. Andy Spooner, of Port Arthur, Ont., and Dave Kemp, formerly of Seattle, of the Pacific Coast League, are being groomed for Byrne's place.

PRO GAME FAILURE As Only Two Teams Ready to Organize

Saskatoon and Edmonton Only Cities Able to Support Hockey Teams—Efforts of Other Clubs Anything but Bright Is Report

SASKATOON, Nov. 10.—Professional hockey, dead for three years on the Prairies, is not likely to rise into being this Winter. Two efforts to bring the pro game back to Prairie cities have apparently failed, with indications pointing to only two clubs prepared to operate in a proposed Western Canada League.

Joe Gangwish, who operated the Saskatoon Sheiks in the old Western circuit, and the veteran "Duke" Keads seem ready to organize professional teams in Saskatoon and Edmonton, but there is no answering enthusiasm in Calgary and Regina, from where teams would be needed to complete a Prairie loop.

Rosy Helmer, said last night by Gangwish to be ready to enter a team from Calgary, declared today he was "not interested." Wes Champ, who owned the old Regina Capitals, announced he was not favorable to formation of a Prairie pro league this year. Champ doubted if Regina fans would desert the amateur "Big Six" games to watch money-earning players in Regina.

Gangwish's move to start a circuit followed closely the effort of Frank Patrick to include Calgary and Edmonton in a league with Vancouver and Tacoma. Patrick was unable to reach an agreement, and the Far West will be without professional hockey of any sort this Winter.

PATRICK'S CREW Heads for Game With Canadians

SPRINGFIELD, Mass., Nov. 10.—With his preseason managerial worries over, Lester Patrick and his New York Rangers entrained tonight for Montreal, Thursday night they will assist the world's champion Canadians to open the National Hockey League season in Montreal.

Manager Patrick stated Earl Selbert, promising young defence man of Kitchener, had been entered into the fold and will team up with

CHING JOHNSON, veteran rearward, against the habitants.

He also announced that Osa Heximer, sharp-shooting wingman, had agreed to terms, but that he will not accompany the team and will be left here with the Springfield Indians of the Canadian-American League.

MARINE and TRANSPORTATION

Niagara Is Sailing
For Ports in South
Seas Early TonightJapanese Liner Due Inbound at Midnight—
Skeena on Way to Esquimalt—Lillooet Completes Season—Estevan Out Tomorrow

Outbound for Australia via Hawaii, Fiji and New Zealand, the Canadian-Australasian motor liner Niagara, Captain T. V. Hill, commander, is due alongside Rithet Piers at 6 o'clock this evening, and after embarking passengers awaiting the ship's arrival here and taking on United States mails, ordinary and air, will leave two hours later for Honolulu, her first port of call in the South.

From ports in Japan, the Nippon
Yusen Kaisha liner Ss. Shidzuka
Maru is due to reach William Head at 10 o'clock tonight, according to word received here by Harry Clark, local representative. This time should bring the ship up alongside Ogden Point Piers about midnight. The liner is bringing only a small passenger list this voyage, and only one steering passenger will leave the ship here. Completing her business for this port, the Shidzuka Maru will proceed to Seattle early tomorrow morning.

SCHEDULE WILL CHANGE
On Thursday of this week, the Ss.
Prince George, of the Canadian National Steamships, will sail for Prince Rupert and Stewart on her last trip of the season in so far as the fall schedule is concerned. Effective November 16, the winter schedule will go into effect. This service will be handled by the Ss.
Prince Rupert, making a round trip
each week, leaving Vancouver every Monday night at 8 o'clock.

Ss. Prince George will make her regular calls at Powell River, Ocean
Parks, Prince Rupert, Anxox and Stewart. From the latter port, coming South, she will return direct to Prince Rupert, where her service will terminate for the season. The Ss. Prince George will then enter the Prince Rupert drydock, and will undergo an overhaul in preparation for her Spring and Summer schedule in 1932.

H.M.C.S. Skeena left Port Alberni
where she was lying for several days
during her cruise of the British Columbia coast with His Honor the Lieutenant-Governor of the Province aboard, yesterday morning and should arrive at her base in Esquimalt sometime today. While at the West Coast port, the Lieutenant-Governor, the commanding officer
and the crew were entertained.

INTEREST CREATED
The cruise advertised for the Canadian National Ss. Prince Henry which is scheduled to begin on November 22 at Vancouver, has created a lot of interest, and the ship will undoubtedly have a good list of travelers when she turns her bow southward to the seas of romance between California and the West Indies. Leaving the Mainland port at midnight on November 21, the Prince Henry will arrive here early

WINNIPEG, Nov. 10.—The grain traffic handled by the Canadian Pacific for the month of October shows an increase over the same period
last year, inasmuch as the company loaded in the Manitoba district 1,287,470 tons, in Saskatchewan 7,728 cars, or a total of 17,921 cars. During the same month in 1930, loadings in Manitoba amounted to 2,251 cars; in Saskatchewan, 5,379, and in Alberta,
5,743 cars, or a total of 13,373, representing an increase of 4,548 cars loaded this year, according to a statement made today by H. C.
Taylor, superintendent of transportation, Western lines.

The amount of grain received at country elevators along the lines of the Canadian Pacific shows a substantial increase for the month of October, the figures submitted by Mr. Taylor as follows: Manitoba,
2,161,000 bushels; Saskatchewan,
15,711,000 bushels; Alberta, 15,303,000
bushels, a total of 22,815,000 bushels, an increase of 6,581,000 bushels received from farmers this year.

Grain loadings thus far in the present month are ahead of last year, with 4,679 cars loaded November 9, as compared with 3,853 cars up to the same date last year.
The stocks of grain at country elevators are practically the same as at the same date a year ago, and stocks
at the Lake Head being about 7,000, 900 bushels less than they were a year ago.

The movement to the Pacific Coast, Mr. Taylor declares, is much improved, with stocks in store estimated at about 5,000,000 bushels more than on the same date last year. There are 13,253,000 bushels
now in store at Vancouver.

Threshing is practically completed
throughout the Prairie Provinces, where only 10 to 15 per cent remains to be threshed, chiefly in Northern Alberta.

EDMONTON, Nov. 10.—Something new in Canada's export trade with the Orient, and likely to have far-reaching effect, will be inaugurated
next week when C. George Reidel, of Taber, Alberta, will ship 1,200 colonies of screened bees and their accompanying queens to the Province of Alberta to China. The Canadian Pacific Railway, in charge of the unique shipment, has arranged for quick transit to Vancouver, where the bees will be loaded immediately into special refrigeration compartments on the Empress of Russia, sailing November 21.

PHENOMENON
IS SOLVEDFishermen's Nets Buried in Mud Created by Dead
Marine Organism

A colossal marine phenomenon of great complexity has at last been solved through the efforts of the Pacific Biological Station at Department Bay and the Fisheries
Experimental Station at Prince
Rupert. It was announced yesterday.
Periodical appearance of silt off
the Nass River, so heavy in content that many valuable nets were lost to fishermen, was first reported in the Summer of 1928. Since then the investigation of this phenomenon has been carried on, and not until late this Summer was the explanation forthcoming.

VALUABLE NETS LOST

During July and August of 1929
silt nets of salmon fishermen operating near the mouth of the Nass River, became so covered with mud that a number of nets sank and were lost. The following Summer the same phenomenon occurred and thirty-six nets were buried in the mud.

The matter was of such great concern to the fishing industry that
C. C. Lucas, of the Biological Department, carried out a preliminary investigation. He concluded that the silt was not coming from the Anxox concentrator, as was at first suspected, and, following the investigations carried out by D. B.
Finn, then director of the Fisheries
Experimental Station at Prince
Rupert, in 1930, it was concluded
the phenomenon was a colossal one of greater complexity than at first realized.

CHEMIST INVESTIGATES

Following this report, it was decided to employ a chemist specialized in the study of finely dispersed material. The Biological Board was successful in securing the services of Dr. W. H. Martin, of the department of chemistry, University of Toronto, who continued the investigation last Summer and finally determined the cause of the trouble.
Dr. Martin found, from a micro-

SHIPWRECKED
CREW RETURNLanded on Island of San Salvador When Salt-
Laden Vessel Sank

MONTREAL, Nov. 10.—The Caribbean Sea is a little sailier for the experiences of eight heavy seamen from Lunenburg, N.S., home port of the famous racing schooner Bluenose. The eight adventurers arrived here today in the lap of luxury aboard the Canadian National liner Lady Rodney, which brought passengers from British Honduras, Jamaica, the Bahamas and Bermuda.

Capt. George Himmelmann heads the seamen. With him is Joseph Himmelmann, second engineer of their fated schooner. The Canusprang a leak at sea and the eight seamen, who made up her entire crew, took to lifeboats. For four days and nights they rowed in an open boat, with less than a week's supply of food and water. The Canu sank behind them and the salt that was bound for Lunenburg went into solution in the already salty Caribbean.
By chance the eight seamen succeeded in landing on San Salvador
Island, sometimes called Watlings Island, the very spot where Columbus landed when he first set foot on the New World soil, in 1492. Following their landing, the men were cared for at Nassau, capital of the Bahamas, and were then taken aboard the Lady Rodney. The other members of the crew are: Freeman
Parks, Angus Mason, Clarence Allen,
Carl Mosher, Maurice Corkam and Paul Corkam.

North Atlantic
Gales Delaying
Passenger Ships

NEW YORK, Nov. 10 (AP).
—Gales and head seas on the North Atlantic are playing havoc with the schedules of transatlantic liners. Liners
due to dock today and tomorrow probably will not arrive until Thursday. Four vessels, all due yesterday, arrived
today.

GELATINOUS SUBSTANCE

The mud on the nets was found to be attached to gelatinous fibres of jellyfish and other marine organisms, which material retains the silt and binds it to the net. This was confirmed by the occurrence of the trouble when marine life was most abundant, especially in July and August.

It was also noted that the onset of the mud attack was always preceded by exceptionally high tides, which caused rapid mixing of large amounts of Nass water containing suspended silt, and the sea water containing abundant marine life.
The salt water causes precipitation of the silt in the river water, and at the same time the fresh water kills the marine organisms. The organic matter retains the precipitating silt and collects on the net, gradually filling up the web and making the net so heavy that the buoyancy of the floats is overcome and the net sinks.

GRAIN SAMPLES
GOING FORWARDBags of Wheat, Oats, Barley and Flax En Route to Britain

MONTREAL, Nov. 10.—Samples of this year's grain crop, on which the prices offered by British and European traders will partly be based, reached Montreal today from Winnipeg and will be shipped by the Canadian National Express to most of the British and Continental grain exchanges.

The samples have been prepared by the office of the chief grain inspector at Winnipeg, and are contained in stout close woven bags
which contain oats, barley and flax,
as well as wheat.

The samples are being sent to the Corn Exchanges of London, Manchester, Liverpool, Glasgow, Hull, Bristol, Milan, Brussels, Paris, Hamburg, and practically every European city where trading in grain is conducted.

A gentleman motoring through Ireland saw a board with "This cottage for sale" painted on it.
As he was always ready for a joke,
he stopped and asked a woman in front of the house when the cottage
would sail.
"Just as soon as the man who can raise the wind comes along," was
the quiet reply.

of a garage in Holland Park Avenue, Kensington, London," writes Commander H. M. Daniel, to The Daily Mail.

"Ordinarily I should have been prone to dismiss the tale of such a remarkable craft as a dreamer's fantasy; but the stumpy, bearded figure before me was Captain B.
Chernikeyff, a Russian, already world famous as the inventor of what is probably the best ship's log ever produced.

IN DEADLY EARNEST

"He was in deadly earnest, and showed me the model engine on which he is experimenting, and with which I hope to do a trial trip in a twenty-three-foot boat before long.
Captain Chernikeyff is confident that his principle will ultimately be applicable to every sort of boat,
from a dinghy to an ocean liner,
with advantage in fuel consumption.

"He took ten years to perfect his log, and he has already spent two years on his novel engine. The results of his work have encouraged him. I found the mechanics stiffening the engine against vibration,
which has proved excessive in a preliminary trial, and there is still much research to be done."

ROCKET PRINCIPLE

Captain Chernikeyff has little to guide him, for he is ploughing virgin soil. His propulsive apparatus might be described as a submarine rocket, driving the boat ahead by the ejection of gas through the stern. To reverse the boat the gas is emitted forward. To alter course the gas is deflected, thus changing direction without any friction such as is caused by the use of a rudder.
The gas on which the action of the "rocket" depends is provided by exploding a succession of petrol vapor charges from a chamber into which they have been pumped by any suitable standard engine. The explosive mixture may be ignited by a sparking plug or on the Diesel principle, using the temperature of high compression to achieve spontaneous combustion.

A gentleman motoring through Ireland saw a board with "This cottage for sale" painted on it.
As he was always ready for a joke,
he stopped and asked a woman in
front of the house when the cottage
would sail.
"Just as soon as the man who can raise the wind comes along," was
the quiet reply.

NEW ATHLETIC HALL IS OPENED

Lieutenant-Governor Officially at Interesting Event at Port Alberni

PORT ALBERNI, Nov. 10.—The round of events given for His Honor the Lieutenant-Governor and the officers and men of H.M.C.S. Skeena terminated last evening and the ship left port at 9:30 this morning.

An event of outstanding interest took place last evening at Alberni when His Honor opened the new Alberni Athletic Hall. Mayor Motion presented an address on behalf of the city, while Harry Carter, president of the athletic association, introduced His Honor and Commander V. G. Brodeur. In reply the Lieutenant-Governor stated that he appreciated the fact that those who had worked so hard for the building of the hall deserved a great deal of credit, not only on account of the building, but also on account of the courage which was necessary during these times of depression. Following the opening a dance took place.

On Monday afternoon a civic luncheon was held by the two cities, and the Lieutenant-Governor and officers of the Skeena were officially welcomed. At the luncheon Brodeur, Kendall and Mayor Motion each gave an address of welcome, which was responded to by the Lieutenant-Governor and Commander Brodeur. Charles McNaughton and Mr. Clegg also spoke. Following the luncheon a deputation headed by E. Cronk, president of the Canadian Club, proceeded on board the Skeena and presented framed photographs to the Lieutenant-Governor and the commander on behalf of the Canadian Club.

When Your Cough Hangs On, Mix This at Home

For coughs due to cold, the best remedy that money could buy can easily be mixed at home. It saves money and gives you the most reliable, quick-acting medicine you can get. The way it takes hold of stubborn cough, giving immediate relief, is astonishing.

Any druggist can supply you with 2½ ounces of Pinex. Pour this into a 2½ oz. bottle, and fill up with plain granulated sugar syrup or strained honey. It's no trouble at all to mix, and when you once use it, you will never be without it. Keeps perfectly and tastes good—children really like it. It is surprising how quickly this loosens the germ-laden phlegm, and soothes the inflamed membranes. At the same time, part of the medicine is absorbed into the blood, where it acts directly on the bronchial tubes, and helps the system throw off the whole trouble. Even those severe coughs which follow cold epidemics, are promptly cured.

Pinex is a highly concentrated compound of Norway spruce, in a refined, palatable form. Nothing known in medicine is more helpful in cases of severe coughs and bronchial irritations. Do not accept a substitute for Pinex. It is guaranteed to give prompt relief or money refunded.

Right-of-Way Is In Dispute and Gate Is Chopped

NANAIMO, Nov. 10.—In the provincial police court yesterday Peter Merlo appeared on a charge laid by J. J. Gogo of chopping down his gate and thereby doing wilful damage. The case was, after a lengthy discussion, adjourned to refer the question of the right-of-way of the road through the Gogo property that connects the South Forks Road, to the Minister of Lands.

Merlo told the court that on November 7, wishing to get a truck load of supplies to his cabin, he asked Gogo in a very nice way if he would open the gate, which was locked. Gogo replied, yes for $250. Merlo said he had passed through Gogo's property many times since 1921, and he knew the city of Nanaimo and Government had been paying money on that portion of the road, and believed he had the right to keep on using it, chopped the padlock, and the gate went on his journey.

SPECIAL SERVICE WELL ATTENDED

Armistice Commemorated in United Church at Qualicum by Big Congregation

QUALICUM BEACH, Nov. 10.—Great interest was manifested in the special Armistice service held in the United Church on Sunday. Every available space was occupied and many were standing. The local branch of the Canadian Legion was well represented by a good attendance of members.

Rev. C. Pinmore preached a most impressive sermon, in which the spirit of remembrance was maintained and the cause of peace emphatically stressed. Taking as his text, "This day shall be unto you for a memorial," the speaker focused his message upon the ideal of erecting the greatest memorial possible, a warless world.

Mrs. E. Sanders presided at the organ, while choir rendered Kipling's "Recessional." Mr. A. James sang "Some Time We'll Understand," and Mr. E. Sanders "In Flanders Fields." The roll was called by the local president, Mr. E. Saxe, and the local P. Hoare sounded Last Post.

Sooke Athletic Officers Elected

SOOKE, Nov. 10.—The Sooke Athletic Association held its annual meeting in Charter Hall on November 5. Officers elected were: G. H. Jones, president (re-elected); E. G. Jones, secretary; A. H. Jones, secretary-treasurer. A committee of eight was appointed, which includes Mrs. W. Baker, Jr.; Mrs. R. Kirby; Mr. L. L. Craig; and Mr. W. Kinison. General repairs will be made throughout the hall, which will be held for basketball purposes, the teams will be made up, and the Monday and Thursday evenings will be reserved for practice.

Horticulturists Meet at Sidney

SIDNEY, Nov. 10.—The North Saanich Horticultural Society held its monthly meeting in Wesley Hall. The president, E. E. Taylor, occupied the chair. Reports were given by the secretary and the treasurer, Mr. J. J. White. Professor Paul Boying, of the University of British Columbia, gave an interesting address on "The History of Horticulture." After the address a social evening was held, the convener being Mrs. W. Kinison, Mrs. F. King and Mrs. Skinner.

ARMISTICE SERVICE HELD AT CHEMAINUS

CHEMAINUS, Nov. 10.—An impressive armistice service was held Sunday afternoon at St. Michael and All Angels Church. The congregation, which overflowed the church, included members of the Porter Chapter, I.O.E., Girl Guides, Brownies, Boy Scouts, Japanese Troop of Boy Scouts and Cubs. Following a service in the church the congregation surrounded the War Memorial where, with bowed heads, they paid reverent tribute to all of those who fell in the late war. Wreaths were placed at the foot of the monument by representatives of the above organizations. The singing of the National Anthem, Canon Hazeltine conducted the service, assisted by Rev. E. M. Cook.

NANAIMO POPPY SALE

NANAIMO, Nov. 10.—The sum of $300.00 was realized Saturday from the sale of poppies on the city streets. The proceeds do not include sale of wreaths, etc., to merchants, and it is expected the amount will be augmented by the sale of poppies in the schools.

RIPE RASPBERRIES

NANAIMO, Nov. 10.—Mrs. Thomas Guilford, Lubbock Square, is the proud possessor of fully grown and ripened raspberries, which she gathered from her garden yesterday.

KING OPENS PARLIAMENT AMID BRILLIANT SCENE OF HISTORIC PAGEANTRY

The dangle of talaras as the red chamber fills shows that the symbol of woman's rank depends not so much on Debreit's as on the ladies' bank accounts. One prominent beauty, whose name will be in the papers, wears a coronet affair like a Broadway toothpaste advertisement. She is a "new" peeress just ennobled because of her husband's financial sagacity, and she is unfortunate to be sandwiched between two matrons whose forefathers arrived with William the Conqueror and who immediately give her the freeze-out.

ROYAL COACH LEAVES

At 11:20 o'clock, over at Buckingham Palace, the fairy coach sets out in the drizzling rain, flanked by Tudor guards and prancing golden-heeled horsemen—a coach of gold and crystal awaying on two terrific leather straps swung between four golden figures of Neptune with golden waves and trident. Thousands who have stood in the pouring rain in the Mall for hours burst into frantic cheers, waving their hats, and the sun itself, to greet such splendor, takes a faint peek through London's cloudy heavens.

The King and Queen smile and bow. When the King alights before the Houses of Parliament, a royal salute of twenty-one guns thunderously against the sodden air.

But, strangely enough, these guns are not heard inside the red chamber of the House of Lords.

About two hundred peeresses, from their scarlet sofas, look down in a perfect sea of England's noble manhood—so many bearded earls, dukes, barons and viscounts that there are not enough seats for them.

A jangle of spurs and in strides Lord Allenby, his field marshal's baton sticking out beneath his feathered helmet and all for a scarlet arm. Beside him is the slender, aesthetic figure of Lord Irwin, former Viceroy of India.

Rev. C. Pinmore, in silken stuff as sleek as make-up, unable to sit down and be out of the picture for even a moment, stands up in the front row of peeresses and makes her witty remarks across the seven solid ranks of diamonded duchesses and dowagers.

A dandling blonde comes in, whose coronet makes even Lady Asquith gasp, and whose perfect shoulders cause a mass movement among the lords and ladies of the peerage.

The ambassadors' box is filled with constellations of medals like heavenly suburbs with gold and lace, and two white satin bows gleam to decorate the shoulders of the French Ambassador.

COLORFUL ROBES

The Minister of Health was superb in a black burruss and silver, with a hood of cream and gold. A few topped the smile of Egypt's minister. Faces ranged from a scholar's white to the dusky of Burma, and from the olive of India to the flaming red of Persia.

All the lights go down until only the filaments glitter. The ermine robes look like a field of snow. The body of dissemblance is laid out at Ottawa as soon as possible. This invitation has been welcomed by my ministers and will be considered a most sympathetic spirit and with the earnest desire to come to some mutually advantageous arrangements with the Governments of my Dominions.

CONFERENCE CONTINUES

"The Indian round-table conference continues its work and a conference with representatives of Burma will be held tomorrow. It is my earnest prayer that the deliberations of both these conferences may be crowned with success."

"In conformity with an undertaking given to representatives of my Dominions in 1930, measures will be laid before you to give statutory effect to the powers of the Imperial Conferences of 1926 and 1930."

"This measure is designed to make clear the power of the Dominions Parliaments and to promote a spirit of free co-operation among members of the British Commonwealth of Nations."

IMPERIAL CONFERENCE

"My Government has received from the Government of my Dominion of Canada a proposal that the Economic Conference which adjourned in 1930 should be convened at Ottawa as soon as possible. This invitation has been welcomed by my ministers and will be considered a most sympathetic spirit and with the earnest desire to come to some mutually advantageous arrangements with the Governments of my Dominions."

That Body of Yours

By James W. Barton, M.D.

WASTES MUST BE REMOVED

My earliest recollection of a doctor in the house was to see him have the patient put out his tongue. Then he took the pulse, and temperature, and always asked if the intestine was acting regularly. I sometimes think that physicians, in taking the word of the patient as to the activity of the intestine, do not question him closely enough, or that what the patient considers "regular" may not be sufficient to completely remove the wastes from the large intestine. Therefore the old-fashioned method of looking at the tongue might be a good idea for doctor and patient.

That tired, "don't care" feeling, mental depression it is now called, is very frequently due to the accumulation of wastes in the large intestine. When a patient enters the hospital to be put under observation, or because he is really suffering from some definite ailment, the first treatment is a pill or an enema, or both, to get the wastes out of the intestine. This may be all that is causing the trouble, but in many cases constipation or the accumulation of wastes is bound to aggravate the condition.

After the intestine has been completely emptied, it takes about forty-eight hours, if the patient continues eating, before it fills again, and he should not be anxious about an intestinal movement before that time.

However, by the exercise of a little determination, practically everybody, unless bedridden, can make it possible to have regular intestinal movements without the use of drugs.

TOONERVILLE FOLKS

How It Started

A "WILD GOOSE CHASE"

To be led around in circles, to be sent on a pursuit which leads to nothing, to follow someone who cannot be caught up with, to start on an errand which is impossible of accomplishment—that is to go on a wild goose chase. And the phrase is among the most popular in modern English speech.

It has the flavor of slang, that reference to a "wild goose chase"—and slang has the flavor of today. And yet it goes back to the early seventeenth century, having had its origin in the first part of Cervantes' classic, "Don Quixote," which appeared in 1605.

The exact words as they have been translated from the original Spanish are: "Why do you lead me a wild-goose chase?"

Mr. Crabber—You look like a fool in that Eugenie hat.

Mrs. Crabber—Yes, and I'd feel like one in my old one!
